LoPresti said Wise Dan is two works away from a race

WISE DAN WORKS TOWARD RETURN

By Claire Novak

A vacationing clocker meant the Aug. 17 move of Wise Dan at Keeneland wasn't recorded, but trainer Charlie LoPresti said the two-time Horse of the Year's dirt breeze moved him closer to a likely start in the Sept. 13 Ricoh Woodbine Mile Stakes (Can-IT).

LoPresti's watch clocked the 8-year-old gelding going six furlongs in 1:14 in company, galloping out seven furlongs in 1:26 1/5.

Wise Dan, a two-time winner of the Woodbine Mile and the Breeders' Cup Mile (gr. IT), has not raced since taking the Shadwell Turf Mile Stakes (gr. IT) last October; he exited that race with a non-displaced fracture at the bottom of his right front cannon bone. He has worked five times since his return to training, with another Breeders' Cup run his ultimate target.

"He's got probably two more works, and then I'll take him to Dr. (Larry) Bramlage right before he goes to Woodbine," LoPresti said. "It's a 'Win and You're In' Breeders' Cup race, it's not a handicap... a lot of things make sense about running there." BH

Dual Guineas winner Gleneagles is questionable for Juddmonte International showdown with Golden Horn

GLENEAGLES CAN'T ESCAPE THE RAIN

By Madison Scott

Wednesday's Juddmonte International Stakes (Eng-I) at about 10 furlongs at York was billed as a Golden Horn-Gleneagles showdown, but the anticipated match is in doubt due to—you guessed it—ground. Rain Tuesday downgraded the going to "good, good to soft in places" to the disadvantage of Gleneagles' connections, who already passed on both the Sussex Stakes (Eng-I) and Prix Jacques Le Marois (Fr-I) due to soft ground.

Gleneagles' trainer, Aidan O'Brien, could delay the final decision until race day. The trainer's son, Joseph O'Brien, gets the mount on the 3-year-old miler for the first time since being replaced by the now-injured Ryan Moore in the English Guineas. The nearly-six-foot jockey would try to make the 124-pound impost, though he hasn't ridden below 126 in the past 12 months.

The International has a stellar field even if Gleneagles drops out. Golden Horn's main challengers are group I winners The Grey Gatsby and Criterion and promising Royal Ascot winner Time Test. BH

BEVERLY D. APPEAL LIKELY

By Frank Angst

Both Jamie Spencer and Ralph Beckett, the respective jockey and trainer of Secret Gesture, the mare disqualified from first to third in the Beverly D. Stakes (gr. IT) Aug. 15, expect the stewards' decision to be appealed.

Qatar Racing and Newsells Park Stud's Secret Gesture reached the wire in the Beverly D. 1 1/4 lengths ahead of runner-up Watsdachances, but the stewards ruled Secret Gesture had interfered with Stephanie's Kitten in deep stretch. The disqualification followed an inquiry and an objection from Stephanie's Kitten's rider, Irad Ortiz Jr.

In his Aug. 18 blog for British betting group Coral, Spencer said Secret Gesture came out late but should not have been disqualified because she was clear of Stephanie's Kitten. He said there "obviously will be an appeal."

Secret Gesture (center, maroon silks) finished first in the Beverly D. but was disqualified and placed third of Galileo, what would have been her first grade I victory. Beckett said on Twitter Sunday he expected an appeal to be filed. A posting on Qatar Racing's website stated Secret Gesture was "denied a deserved victory." BH

The OBS August select yearling sale is scheduled for Aug. 25

CONSIGNORS GEARING UP FOR OBS

By Ian Tapp

For some in the bloodstock business, the break between the Saratoga sales and Keeneland September is a chance to catch their breath. Not so for consignor Beth Bayer, who just got back to Florida from Saratoga and has 23 cataloged for the Aug. 25 Ocala Breeders' Sales Co.'s August select yearling sale.

"Sometimes you hear people say they're going to sit and wait for Keeneland, but it won't be any easier to buy at Keeneland because everybody's there," Bayer said. "People are realizing they need to buy when they find a nice individual, no matter where it is."

Bayer mentioned an Awesome Again colt and an Arch filly as two to watch in her consignment.

"I try to place horses where I think they'll be in the top 10%," she said. "That's why some Kentucky-sired yearlings are down here (at OBS) because they'd be competing against 30-40 at Keeneland. You might have a slightly lesser pedigree, but if you have a really good individual, why not be a standout here?" BH

KHRC approved cobalt regulations at Aug. 18 meeting

KY APPROVES COBALT THRESHOLD

By Ron Mitchell

After months of study, the Kentucky Horse Racing Commission has given final approval to regulations for the mineral cobalt and stiff penalties for horses testing positive for levels over 50 parts per billion.

Cobalt occurs naturally in horses, but high levels have become increasingly common in post-race tests. Dr. Mary Scollay, the KHRC's equine medical director, said cobalt may enhance performance but the science to explain such effects in horses is lacking.

Under the regulations approved Aug. 18, a positive test of 25 ppb would result in a warning and fine, and the horse would be placed on the vet's list. Levels over 50 ppb could result in as much as a two-month suspension, up to a $1,000 fine, and/or purse revocation.

Also, the commission extended the recommended withdrawal time for flunixin to 32 hours from 24 hours.

The new regulations must go through a regulatory process that could take up to six months before being implemented. BH

HIGH SPEED FIGURES FOR FOURSTARDAVE

By Frank Angst

While the Arlington Million XXXIII Stakes (gr. IT) offered the weekend's biggest purse, it did not generate the top Equibase Speed Figure on a Saturday of big turf races coast to coast.

The Fourstardave Handicap (gr. IIT) at Saratoga Race Course proved fastest as its top-three finishers registered the weekend's highest figures, with winner Grand Arch's 123 the best. Runner-up Ironicus and third-place Seek Again earned 122s.

With four horses within 1 1/4 lengths of the winner, the Fourstardave registered five of the top six speed figures: Both fourth-place King Kreesa (grade I-placed) and fifth-place Mshawish (grade I winner) were given a 121.

The Pizza Man earned a 119 in winning the Arlington Million, three points less than the 122 registered by Highland Reel in the Secretariat Stakes (gr. IT). Both races were contested at 1 1/4 miles on the Arlington turf, and while the turf was firm for the Secretariat and yielding for the Million, those factors are accounted for in the figures. BH with Robert L. Losey, Ph.D.

EXPLOITING MARKET INEFFICIENCIES

By Robert L. Losey, Ph.D.

This week's column, like many others I'll write, targets breeders and buyers on a budget. As discussed last week, the stock market is relatively efficient; nevertheless, it has anomalous situations that generate unusual returns. In addition to its own peculiarities, the bloodstock market has analogs to many of these anomalies.

Value stocks. Stocks with good "numbers" (high cash flows and asset values and low price/earnings ratios) are analogous to racing prospects by sires that have higher percentages of top-quality runners. Successful Appeal, with 8.0% SWs and 2.2% GSWs but only a $29,374 yearling average for 2014, is a classic "numbers" sire. Another "value" criterion, deemed crucially important by Joe Estes, is racing quality in the dam. See the Rosenberg paper on rlosey.com for an analysis that supports Estes' hypothesis and yields additional insights as well.

Small cap bias. Small companies with few/no analysts following them outperform large-cap stocks. The greater numbers of analysts discussing large-cap stocks generate more buzz and higher prices. Trainers and writers are bloodstock equivalents of stock analysts—when they see successful runners by a sire, they spread the word and prices are bid up, often based on volume of runners whether or not associated with the "numbers" described above.

Reversion to the mean. Mutual funds that perform especially well for two or three years are subsequently more likely to underperform. Similarly, from a group of comparable proven sires, by chance some will look like world-beaters one year but are likely to revert to form (Devil His Due, after Roses in May won the Dubai World Cup; Flower Alley after Kentucky Derby winner I'll Have Another). We all want to get in on the next hot sire, but breeders and buyers who pay premium prices for hot sires are often overpaying. Conversely, proven sires that are having an off year are more likely to bounce back the following year (especially if they have sufficient foals in the pipeline). Arch, Awesome Again, and Mineshaft are likely to look better in 2016.

Calendar (and sales placement) biases. If you invest in common stocks for only two weeks each year, make it late December/early January when stocks historically generate abnormally high returns.

Bloodstock markets also have time-related anomalies. American University researchers have shown that the first few hours of the Keeneland September sale exhibit slightly lower prices than should be expected when adjusted for quality. There are other placement effects. Phil Sims did his homework—but was probably the beneficiary of an anomaly—when he bought Don't Tell Sophia for $1,000 as Hip 2787 on Day 8 of the 2009 Keeneland September sale. This Congaree filly would probably have sold better later in the sale but was passed over by mid-sale buyers looking for hotter sires than Congaree, whose yearlings averaged only $9,139 that year. Patient buyers who look for misplaced pedigrees at sales can hope to emulate Phil Sims. BH
