Multiple grade I winner Private Zone, in Florida for therapy after an uncharacteristic effort in the Nov. 28 Cigar Mile, could race again in Dubai in 2016

PRIVATE ZONE IN FLORIDA FOR THERAPY

By Claire Novak

Grade I winner Private Zone will get some well-deserved time off, co-owner and racing manager Rene Douglas said.

The Macho Uno gelding shipped Dec. 1 to The Sanctuary Sports Therapy and Rehabilitation Center near Ocala, Fla. Second in the Breeders' Cup Sprint (gr. I), Private Zone was a tired fifth as the favorite in the Cigar Mile (gr. I) Nov. 28. It was his first start for trainer Brian Lynch, who aborted a planned breeze prior to the race.

"We never had a chance to work him, and at that point I should have decided not to go," Douglas said. "But he came out good. He has little 6-year-old issues; just wear and tear. I want to bring him back to Florida and give him all the treatment he deserves. The Sanctuary seems like a nice place, and he can go to the hyperbaric chamber."

Private Zone was ninth in the 2013 Dubai Golden Shaheen (UAE-I), a race he could target in 2016. "I guarantee everyone will see a new Private Zone next year," Douglas said. BH

Lady Eli spent some quiet time at Dell Ridge Farm near Lexington as part of her recovery from laminitis

LADY ELI CONTINUES TO MAKE PROGRESS

By Lenny Shulman

Undefeated 3-year-old filly Lady Eli, continuing her recovery from laminitis, arrived at trainer Chad Brown's shedrow at Palm Meadows Training Center in Florida Nov. 29 and is tack-walking as part of the next phase of her rehabilitation.

"We're thrilled with how she looks," Brown said. "Her X-rays appear normal, and there is no evidence of the laminitic episode. She's trotting sound on the shank and her condition looks excellent."

There is no timetable for Lady Eli to go to the training track. "I'm just going to take it week-to-week," Brown said.

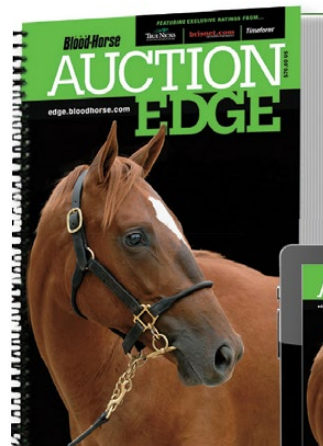

Lady Eli, campaigned by Sheep Pond Partners, had been rehabbing since late September at Dell Ridge Farm near Lexington under the care of farm manager Des Ryan and foot specialist Dr. Bryan Fraley. Ryan said Lady Eli did everything the right way while at the farm and that she left "pretty much in regular shoes. We're excited to get her back to Chad."

Bred by Catesby Clay and his Runnymede Farm, Lady Eli, by Divine Park, has earned $1,449,800. BH

Tattersalls Limited 2015 December Mare Sale, Day 2 Top Hips

Hanky Panky, a 5-year-old Galileo mare out of Mariah's Storm, brought the top price of 2.7 million guineas ($4,268,376) during the Dec. 1 second session of the Tattersalls mare sale

MARES BRING HIGH PRICES ON DAY 2

By Carl Evans

Big names with recent top-grade victories studded the premier session of the Tattersalls mares sale Dec. 1, but none had the boxes ticked like Hanky Panky.

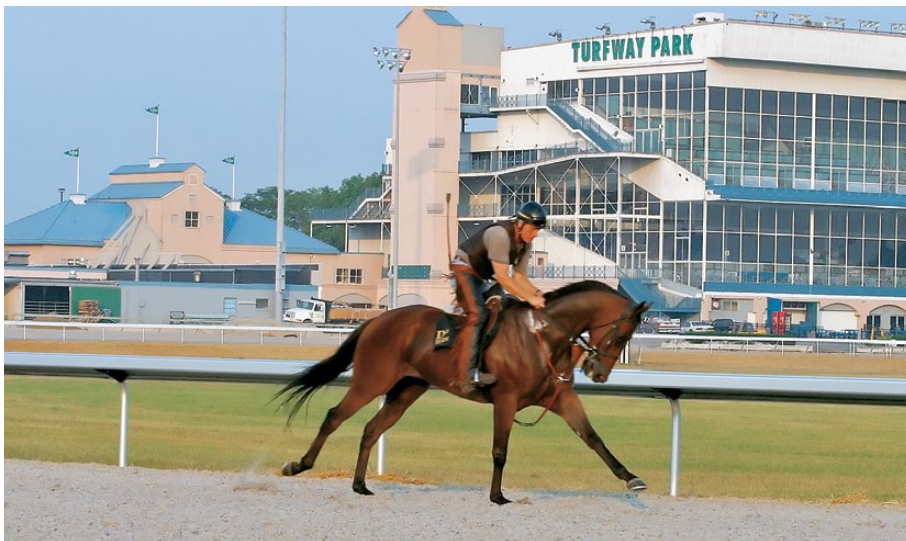

The 5-year-old Galileo mare out of Mariah's Storm is a half sister to leading sire Giant's Causeway and to You'resothrilling, dam of classic-winning milers Gleneagles and Marvellous. Another half sister, Love Me Only, produced Storm the Stars, who placed in two Derbys this year. Also illuminating Hanky Panky's glittering page is her Dubawi cover.

Having visited Sheikh Mohammed's Dalham Hall for that mating, she returns there, bought by John Ferguson for 2.7 million guineas ($4,268,376) from John Sikura's Hill 'n' Dale Farms.

M.V. Magnier purchased group I-winning juvenile Tiggy Wiggy for 2.1 million guineas ($3,319,848) from Charles Noell and John Moores' Merriebelle Stable. Qualify, an Oaks (Eng-I) winner and a rarity to be offered in the year of her classic triumph, was another for Sheikh Mohammed at 1.6 million guineas ($2,529,408).

Gross reached 27,657,000 guineas ($43,722,398) down 5% while the average of 170,722 guineas ($269,890) increased 1%. BH

Turfway Park received Kentucky Horse Racing Commission approval Dec. 1 to install historical racing machines

TURFWAY APPROVED FOR HISTORICAL RACING

By Frank Angst

The Kentucky Horse Racing Commission Dec. 1 approved adding historical racing machines at Turf-way Park, the state's fourth Thoroughbred track to offer the games that look like video lottery terminals but base payouts on a pari-mutuel formula.

Likely acting before any potential changes in political winds—Gov.-elect Matt Bevin will take office Dec. 8—Turfway asked and received approval for 250 machines. Officials from Turfway owner Rock Gaming said they are working on construction contracts for an on-site facility and couldn't say whether the games would be up and running in 2016.

Historic racing machines are in place at Kentucky Downs, Ellis Park, and in a joint effort with Keeneland at Red Mile, a Lexington Standardbred track.

Meanwhile, Keeneland's efforts to build a Quarter Horse track that would include historical racing machines in Corbin, Ky., have been slowed by litigation that prevented the KHRC from considering Keeneland's license request at the Dec. 1 meeting. BH

SAINT LIAM'S LEGACY CONTINUES

By Ron Mitchell

Saint Liam's legacy continues: The ill-fated stallion was represented by his first stakes winner as a broodmare sire when Stoneway Farm's homebred 3-year-old Candy Ride filly Ahh Chocolate won the Nov. 26 Falls City Handicap (gr. II) at Churchill Downs.

A brilliant racehorse, Saint Liam carried Horse of the Year honors and great expectations when he retired to Lane's End with 16 top-three finishes from 20 starts and earnings of nearly $4.5 million. However, the son of Saint Ballado stood only one season. In August 2006 while being led to his paddock, he fell, fractured his left hind leg, and was euthanized.

From that single crop, Saint Liam has sired 10 stakes winners, five of which won graded stakes. His top runner, Havre de Grace, was voted Horse of the Year of 2011 for Fox Hill Farm and sold at the 2012 Fasig-Tipton November sale for $10 million to Mandy Pope.

The Falls City was the first stakes victory for Ahh Chocolate, who defeated older fillies and mares in the Churchill fixture. BH

CAREER BEST FOR PAGE MCKENNEY

By Frank Angst

Who is the best older horse in training without a graded stakes win? If the answer is not Page McKenney, the 5-year-old Eavesdropper gelding certainly belongs in the conversation.

On Nov. 25 at Penn National, Page McKenney, trained by Mid-Atlantic based Mary Eppler, registered the week's best Equibase Speed Figure, a career-best 124 in the Swatara Stakes. His previous best of 118 had been earned two starts back in a close second in the Roanoke Stakes at Parx Racing.

With the half-length Swatara victory over grade III winner Kid Cruz, who also earned a 124 in the 1 1/16-mile test, Page McKenney earned his second stakes win in 11 days, having taken the Richard W. Small at Laurel Park for his fourth stakes win this season and seventh in the past two seasons.

Owned by Adam Staple and Jalin Stable, Page McKenney has placed in nine other stakes, including a runner-up finish in this year's Pimlico Special (gr. III) and third-place finishes in two other graded stakes. BH

MAKING SENSE OF 'SEASONOMICS'

When I call an agent or farm to discuss seasons for mares, I wear my "breeder's hat." But it's not unusual that the farm's explanation of its pricing policies causes me to instinctively don my "economist/consultant's" hat. I almost always stifle the little voice in my head when that happens, perhaps because I was subconsciously saving its comments for this column.

A few years back I called a farm to report on a foal-share newborn shortly after the Kentucky Derby was won by a colt sired by one of the farm's stallions. The representative volunteered that the farm had been besieged by calls and had not raised his fee.

The little voice in my head piped up, "Either the stallion was overpriced to begin with, or the farm manager was asleep in Economics 101 when they talked about supply and demand." There was a windfall to be had; either the stallion shareholders or the folks who waited until the last minute to book a mare would benefit from it. Guess which group a consultant would argue for?

I called another farm in mid-May to inquire about a stallion I knew wasn't booked full at $25,000. It would not budge from $22,500. The little voice suggested, "Ask them if they've ever tried to sell a mare in foal on a late-May cover—or a grass horse in October."

In an otherwise top-notch presentation to my equine finance class by one of my favorite industry folks, consider this statement: "When I managed a farm, we always charged everyone the same price for seasons because, otherwise, I couldn't remember who paid what."

The little voice went berserk. "That's why we have software!" it barked in my brain. It then added, "You were online looking at car rental prices and saw the same car priced by the same company at eight different prices over the next 12 days! If it works for Hertz, maybe he should ponder a parallel paradigm."

In other situations the little voice has opined that stallion managers would come closer to the "set marginal cost equal to marginal revenue" rule from Economics 101 if they pay shipping fees for out-of-state mares; if they discount seasons for quality mares for young but not for old stallions; if they apply quantity discounts; and if they fill a first-year stallion's book even if they have to give seasons away.

The little voice is short on diplomacy, and it doesn't always consider the nuances of particular circumstances. But it's right to ask whether we're doing things because that's the way we've always done them, or because that's the way they ought to be done. BH
