ROYAL DELTA DIES DUE TO FOALING COMPLICATIONS

By Alicia Wincze Hughes

@BH_AHughes

To this day, the memories still make Bill Mott chuckle, recalling times when the simple task of trying to clip Royal Delta's bridle path would be met with defiance—instances when he and his staff were confronted with the attitude that made the champion mare an overwhelming force.

"She was just a big, gorgeous, strong filly with an attitude like a colt," the Hall of Fame trainer said. "You weren't going to make her do something she didn't want to do. She was just aggressive and tough, but really pretty much in a good way."

Having delivered three Eclipse Awards, two Breeders' Cup triumphs, and a sale-topping display of fireworks during her racing days, Royal Delta earned the right to special treatment. Hers was a rare kind of enduring impression, which makes the void from her passing all the more vast.

The Thoroughbred racing community awoke to somber news Feb. 10 when Besilu Stables announced its champion distaffer died at age 9 earlier in the week due to complications while foaling a filly by Galileo at Coolmore Ireland. The filly is reported to be doing well.

Retired in November of 2013, Royal Delta was sent to Ireland to be bred to Galileo during the 2014 breeding season, but she did not get in foal. Another attempt was made the following year, again to Galileo, and she aborted the foal. The same mating in 2016 resulted in the surviving bay filly of 2017.

TRICK SAMUELS

Royal Delta raced first in the colors of her breeder, Palides Investments, then was purchased by Besilu Stables

"It's a tough loss for everybody and for us," said Fabricio Buffolo, bloodstock manager for Benjamin Leon's Besilu Stables. "Fortunately she had a filly that survived and is doing well. But those things happen with the foaling and... you can't do anything. It's very tough."

"We tried everything. She went to the clinic but it all happened very quickly. Unfortunately it was just very unlucky."

Bred in Kentucky by Palides Investments N.V., Inc., the nom de course of the late Prince Saud bin

Khaled, Royal Delta was the rare talent that dropped jaws in her first race and kept raising the bar from there. After breaking her maiden by 12 lengths at first asking in her lone start as a 2-year-old in 2010, the daughter of Empire Maker went on to become an Eclipse Award winner at ages 3, 4, and 5, winning 12 of 22 starts, including six grade 1 contests.

Her first graded score came in the 2011 Black-Eyed Susan Stakes (G2), a victory that preceded her breakout triumph in that year's TVG Alabama Stakes (G1). After finishing second to eventual Horse of the Year Havre de Grace in the Beldame Invitational Stakes (G1) that October, Royal Delta successfully took down older girls in the Breeders' Cup Ladies' Classic (G1) at Churchill Downs, winning by 2 1/2 lengths to seal the Eclipse Award for champion 3-year-old filly.

"She kept impressing us at different times in her career," Mott said. "There were a couple of races where she literally won off by open lengths and just did it with such ease.

"She was always a bit special to me, number one, because I trained for her breeder and he was a good friend of mine, and the fact that I had trained her mother (Delta Princess) and also for a short period of time had trained her grandmother (Lyphard's Delta). When she won the Breeders' Cup at Churchill Downs, I can't believe I was lucky enough to get her back in the barn after she went through the sale."

Royal Delta made headlines again days after that first Breeders' Cup triumph, this time when she arrived at the 2011 Keeneland November breeding stock sale as part of the late Saud bin Khaled's Palides Investments dispersal and sold to Leon for $8.5 million, the third highest price ever for a racemare or broodmare prospect at the November event.

Kept in training and returned to Mott for her 4-year-old season, Royal Delta won four graded stakes in 2012 including her title defense triumph in the Breeders' Cup Ladies' Classic where—showing a new dimension to her previous stalk-and-pounce style— she broke like a shot and led every point of call en route to a 1 1/2-length triumph and another Eclipse Award, this time for champion older female.

"Mr. Leon gave me a very special opportunity. However, it came along at that time with a little added pressure as he purchased her for a lot of money," Mott said. "When they change hands, there is a little pressure to do it all over again. Royal Delta did her part and she did it two more years in a row. We got lucky to have her in the first place and we were very fortunate she reproduced her form as a 4- and 5-year-old."

Leon was sporting enough to bring Royal Delta back for a 5-year-old campaign and was rewarded with more displays of excellence. After returning from her second try in the $10 million Dubai World Cup Sponsored by Emirates Airline (G1), Royal Delta went on to post victories in the 2013 Delaware Handicap (G1) and Personal Ensign Handicap (G1) before being bested by Longines Kentucky Oaks (G1) heroine Princess of Sylmar in the Beldame. She ultimately handed her torch over to another future Hall of Famer when she finished fourth to champion Beholder in that year's Breeders' Cup Distaff.

She had done enough still to claim another Eclipse Award for champion older female, and retired with $4,811,126 in earnings.

"I've had many great moments in my life but the pleasure that Royal Delta has brought to me and my family is indescribable," Leon said. "She offered us the opportunity to enjoy wonderful places, people, and experiences. She was a gift that allowed us many thrilling moments, and we will be forever grateful."

Royal Delta was out of the graded stakes-winning A.P. Indy mare Delta Princess, who was euthanized due to a degenerative stifle condition in 2014, and was a half sister to grade 1 winner Crown Queen, who is currently at Coolmore Ireland slated to be bred to Galileo this year, according to Buffolo.

"She was as sound the day she left the racetrack as she was the day she came to the racetrack," Mott said of Royal Delta. "She was just a real solid, durable type of horse. It's very difficult to find that kind. It's difficult to be lucky enough to get one like that once in a lifetime." BH

QUARANTINE LIFTED AT KEENELAND, TURFWAY

By BloodHorse Staff

Keeneland's Rice Road stable area is completely out of quarantine after the Kentucky Office of State Veterinarian lifted restrictions on a final barn. Feb. 10 blood tests and nasal swabs came back negative for equine herpesvirus type 1, which led to the end of the quarantine.

A day earlier a quarantine was lifted on another Rice Road barn. With the lifting of the quarantine Friday, all Keeneland barns are free of restrictions.

"With this release, we have no barns at the training center under quarantine or restriction," said Rusty Ford, equine programs manager for the Office of the State Veterinarian. "Previous positive horses do remain under regulatory monitoring and are quarantined at a secured, segregated area off the site and will remain so until they too are confirmed negative by PCR testing."

Later in the day Feb. 10, all horses in the quarantined barn at Turfway Park showed negative tests and that quarantine was also released.

"With this barn now released, there are no racing

BAL A BALI STILL IN TRAINING, AIMS FOR KILROE MILE

By Jeremy Balan

@BH_JBalan

Fox Hill Farms and Siena Farm's Bal a Bali is currently listed on the Calumet Farm online stallion roster, but if all goes as planned, he won't be visiting any mares this year.

Still in training with Hall of Fame trainer Richard Mandella in Southern California, the 2014 Brazilian Triple Crown winner is working toward a start in the March 11 Frank E. Kilroe Mile (G1T) and logged a six-furlong drill Feb. 10 in 1:13 3/5 at Santa Anita Park.

"I gave him some time off, and they thought, if he didn't train well, he could go to stud," Mandella said. "But he's training too good to go to stud."

The son of Put It Back won 11 of his 12 starts in Brazil—which included four group 1 victories—then had to beat laminitis before moving to Mandella's barn in 2015.

Bal a Bali won his U.S. debut in the 2015 American Stakes (G3T) and took a Del Mar allowance in the same year, but has not captured a stakes win since. He did have a four-race run where he placed in California graded grass stakes, however, with a second in the 2015 Seabiscuit Handicap (G2T) followed by third-place finishes in the San Gabriel (G2T), Kilroe Mile, and San Francisco Mile (G3T).

MIND YOUR BISCUITS SET FOR GULFSTREAM PARK SPRINT

By BloodHorse Staff

Grade 1 winner Mind Your Biscuits motored through a powerful half-mile work in a bullet :47 3/5 Feb. 10 at Palm Meadows Training Center. It was the 4-year-old's final workout before making his seasonal debut in the $100,000 Gulfstream Park Sprint (G3) at Gulfstream Park Feb. 25.

Mind Your Biscuits, who won the Malibu Stakes (G1) at Santa Anita Park Dec. 26, will have a new trainer when he runs in the 6 1/2-furlong Gulfstream Park Sprint. Chad Summers, who co-owns the New York-bred in a multi-layered partnership that includes his father and brother, J Stables, Head of Plains Partners, and Michael Kisber, has taken over training duties from Robert Falcone Jr.

Summers recently took out his trainer's license and he expects Mind Your Biscuits, a winner of nearly $800,000, to be his second career starter, following a claiming horse he anticipates running the day before the Gulfstream Park Sprint is run.

With jockey Joel Rosario aboard, Mind Your Biscuits' work Friday was the fastest of 27 at the distance. Summers said he clocked Mind Your Biscuits in 1:00 flat for his five-furlong gallop out time, and caught him in 1:12 4/5 for six furlongs.

"There's a little bit of a trick with him in that if you want him to breeze fast you put a pair of blinkers on him," Summers said. "The transformation of him in the afternoons came with the addition of blinkers, and it's the same when he works in them. He's not going to work next week, so this will be his last work going into the race and because of that, today we wanted to put a little more speed in him and get something out of it."

A son of Posse, Mind Your Biscuits had a busy and profitable 3-year-old campaign. After running through his New York-bred conditions, the colt captured the Amsterdam Stakes (G2) at Saratoga Race Course last July. After running second in the Gallant Bob Stakes (G3), Mind Your Biscuits crossed the wire third in the TwinSpires Breeders' Cup Sprint (G1), but subsequently was awarded second-place money upon the disqualification of Masochistic for racing with a prohibited substance.

BEWITT PHOTO

In his last race, Mind Your Biscuits won the Dec. 26 Malibu

After the Breeders' Cup, Mind Your Biscuits remained in California to run in the $300,000 Malibu Stakes for 3-year-olds, which he won by a half-length over Sharp Azteca.

"After the Malibu we gave him a little bit of a breather," Summers said. "We were in California for an extra week, and then we ended up going to Gulfstream for a week, and then finally settled in at Palm Meadows. He's a horse that loves his job and loves what he is doing. He's getting bigger and filling out, and we're very, very pleased with where we are with him."

Summers said the timing of the Gulfstream Park Sprint is such that it would allow him and his partners to decide if they wished to bring Mind Your Biscuits to Dubai to run in the $2 million Golden Shaheen (G1) March 25.

Another option, Summer said, is the $400,000 Carter Handicap (G1) at Aqueduct Racetrack April 8.

"As far as pointing to the Gulfstream race it's just the perfect spot to start our season," Summers said. "We'll use this race as a stepping-stone to our next stop, either Dubai or the Carter. Dubai is one of those things where it's an event. We've never been afraid of the moment and we will never be."

"We look at something like that as it could be a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity. We think he will love that track... if it were a straightaway we wouldn't go. But with it around the turn now, and talking to Rosario, who has been there plenty before, he thinks the horse will love that track, and that's got us excited about it." BH

HERNANDEZ HAS MOMENTUM, CONFIDENCE ON HIS SIDE

By Alicia Wincze Hughes

@BH_AHughes

Brian Hernandez Jr. is quick to give credit where credit is due.

In recalling his 2016 season, when he celebrated a career-high eight graded stakes wins and tallied his second highest ever single-season earnings, the 31-year-old jockey talked about the wave of good fortune that came his way. Good mounts make for even better outcomes and in that vein, Hernandez says he "got lucky and had the right kind of horses for the right races."

If Hernandez is more advantageous than many in the jock's room these days, he deserves his fair share of acclaim for tilting the table in his favor. Quietly yet methodically, the 2004 Eclipse Award winner for outstanding apprentice jockey has taken an already full career that boasts more than 1,600 victories and started adding some key intangibles to it.

A year ago, he rode in his first Kentucky Derby Presented by Yum! Brands (G1) aboard 12th-place finisher Tom's Ready. By the end of the evening Feb. 11, he could be linked with a horse considered the leading contender this season toward the first Saturday in May.

Hernandez has been in the eye of big-race hype before, but there is no buildup that quite compares with being attached to a unbeaten, graded stakes-winning 3-year-old about to take his first step on the Kentucky Derby trail. As the regular rider for Janis Whitham's homebred colt McCracken, the 2-1 morning-line favorite for Saturday's Sam F. Davis Stakes (G3) at Tampa Bay Downs, Hernandez could find his current groundswell of momentum dwarfed by what could come should his Ian Wilkes-trained mount prevail in his seasonal bow.

When Hernandez guided McCracken to victory in the Kentucky Jockey Club Stakes (G2) at Churchill Downs last Nov. 26, it locked the son of Ghostzapper in as a sophomore to watch for 2017 and sealed the best season for his jockey since he steered Fort Larned—another Wilkes-trained, Whitham homebred—to victory in the 2012 Breeders' Cup Classic (G1). The $7,791,059 in earnings Hernandez amassed in 2016 was second only to his career-best total of $8,034,048 four years earlier.

And that Kentucky Club Jockey Club triumph capped off a whirlwind stretch that saw the Louisiana native

COADY PHOTOGRAPHY

Brian Hernandez Jr. is riding high with a top Kentucky Derby prospect in undefeated McCracken win three graded stakes in as many days to go along with victories aboard Thatcher Street in the Nov. 24 River City Handicap (G3T) and Linda in the Nov. 25 Mrs. Revere Stakes (G2T).

"You know, it just kind of snowballed," Hernandez said of his 2016. "Last year was one of the first years where I had multiple really good horses and won multiple graded races, and the momentum just kept building. Even last May, I was getting on a lot more 2-year-olds than I normally do.

"We had a really big year with the 2-year-olds and some of the older horses I had been riding, they kind of stepped up and won a couple graded races. And to have the owners put the confidence in me to ride their better horses, it helps a lot and that's the biggest thing."

Hernandez's ability has long been acknowledged as a solid presence on the Louisiana and Kentucky circuits, not that anyone could ignore him much after he racked up 243 wins during his Eclipse Award-winning season. It often takes a fortuitous pairing for an upstart jockey to gain access to that next, elite level, however.

Appropriately enough, Hernandez cites his association with Fort Larned as that catalyst.

He gained the mount on the future multiple grade 1 winner in the 2012 Prairie Meadows Cornhusker Handicap (G3) when the colt's previous rider, Julien Leparoux, was committed to pilot Successful Dan in the same spot. The chemistry was instant as Hernandez booted Fort Larned to victory both that day and during his subsequent start in the Whitney Invitational Handicap (G1) in the run-up to their Breeders' Cup heroics.

In addition to notching the first grade 1 victories of his career, Hernandez was also building a relationship with the Wilkes barn that has evolved him into the go-to rider for the former assistant to Hall of Famer Carl Nafzger.

"He understands what I'm trying to do and he's a great asset to my barn in helping and developing horses," Wilkes said of Hernandez. "He's good and he just knows how to put a horse in position to win a race."

Added Hernandez, "It's been a great working relationship because riding for guys like Ian and Carl, they entrust me on some of the better horses and they're easy to talk to. It makes it to where it's a team effort where you don't have any pressure going forward like 'Oh man, if I mess this up, I might not get another chance.' With Ian and Carl, they are always behind you. Even in the big races...it's 'Let's look at the bigger picture and get them to the next step.'"

Wilkes has plainly stated that the Sam F. Davis is not the end the goal for McCracken. He doesn't want the bay colt coming too much into his own before the first leg of the Triple Crown.

Hernandez has already compiled a career dotted with successes many will never get to the opportunity to experience. Like his late-running mount, momentum has been his friend in recent times, a powerful surge brought on by inherent talent that is being given a chance to reach a career pinnacle.

"We're just going to try and get McCracken (to the Derby) and let him showcase how good he is," Hernandez said. "I think the biggest thing we have to do is make sure it's not any of us that stops him from running his best race. Just stay out of his way and let him take us there. But it's excitement really, there is no nervousness." BH

NEXT GENERATION TAKES OVER MERKEL CONSIGNMENTS

By Ron Mitchell

@BH_RMitchell

If the results of the recent Fasig-Tipton Midlantic winter mixed sale are any indication, the Becky Merkel sale consignments are in good hands with the consignor's daughter and son-in-law Sarah Estrada-Brok and Carlos Estrada.

The young couple officially began handling the Merkel public auction business effective with the sale in Timonium, Md., selling 11 of 12 horses in their consignment.

Transitioning of the consignments from mother to daughter and son-in-law is a result of a confluence of events, including Merkel's demands at the Diamond B Farm she operates with her husband, Glen Brok, and birth of the first child for Sarah Estrada-Brok and Carlos Estrada.

Sarah Estrada-Brok, 28, cut her teeth in the horse industry while growing up at the 100-acre Diamond B near Mohrsville, Pa., and working at the racetrack on weekends and during the summers when she was in high school.

After graduation, she then worked for trainer Todd Beattie in Pennsylvania and Kellyn Gorder in Kentucky, training and galloping horses.

For the past five years, Estrada-Brok has been an assistant to Patti Miller at EQB, where her duties grew into assisting with the short lists of horses to inspect at sales and evaluating under tack show workouts at 2-year-old sales.

Carlos Estrada, a native of Mexico, began working for the Florida Thoroughbred operation of his brother, Javier, and most recently has assisted Four Star Sales, showing horses to potential buyers at sales.

With the birth of Ethan ninth months ago came the realization that they would no longer be able to do the extensive traveling involved with their other jobs, so they are assuming the Merkel sales operation full-time.

While attending the Fasig-Tipton Kentucky winter mixed sale, where she was on the prowl for short yearlings to pinhook into later sales, Estrada-Brok explained how her experience has equipped her for the challenge of handling the Merkel sales.

Carlos Estrada and Sarah Estrada-Brok enjoyed a successful Fasig-Tipton Midlantic winter mixed sale

"I learned a lot working with Patti," Estrada-Brok said of working at EQB. "I trained my eye to what she likes and also discovered my own eye and the kind of horses I would like to pinhook."

Estrada-Brok also gained experience assisting with her father's bloodstock agency, noting that she worked with Glen Brok and Cal Lynch to select recent Withers Stakes (G3) winner El Areeb for M M G Stables.

Like her parents, Estrada-Brok will focus on yearling sales in Maryland and Kentucky, but the possibility of consigning to Saratoga auctions exists when the quality of their horses merit.

The couple will have at least five they bought for re-sale later this year.

"What we are trying to do is bring horses by Kentucky sires to Maryland, sires that most people like, and then try to have the body that is going to appeal to everybody," Estrada-Brok said.

Her experiences at the track and EQB, coupled with her husband's tenure at Four Star Sales equip the couple for a team approach to sales.

"He (Estrada) is great at showing a horse and he has a good concept of running the sale as well," Estrada-Brok said. "He has seen the proper way to run a consignment. (Four Star Sales) are a great team and are a good group to model ourselves off of.

"I love to gallop. I love the feeling of sitting on a horse, clipping right along. It's such a great feeling. But at the same time, being able to select horses of such quality for clients is great." BH

COOL COAL MAN TO IRAN'S DANIEL STUD

By Erin Shea

@BH_EShea

Graded stakes winner and stallion Cool Coal Man will be exported to Iran to stand at Daniel Stud, according to bloodstock agent Marco Bozzi.

Bozzi went to $25,000 for Cool Coal Man, offered in the Taylor Made Sales Agency consignment on the second day of the Fasig-Tipton Kentucky February mixed sale last week.

The 12-year-old son of Mineshaft—Coral Sea, by Rubiano, was purchased for new owners Hamid Khalili, a Melbourne-based architectural academic, and his partner Iman Polami, who also owns French group 2-winning stallion Pomellato. Daniel Stud is run by Daniel Jabrai, who recently imported 10 mares from Europe to support the stallions.

"Cool Coal Man impressed us, (because) his winner/runner percentage is around 70%, his striking conformation, his pedigree is a combination of one of the best sons of A. P. Indy and a black-type producer from Storm Bird's family, and most importantly his suitability for Iran's tracks and distances," Bozzi said. "We also believe that this stallion will play a significant role in Iran's Thoroughbred industry and will produce many winners."

Cool Coal Man, a grade 2 winner for Robert LaPenta and Nick Zito, began his stallion career in 2011 and has sired 43 winners from four crops of racing age, including one black-type winner, Valery Stripe, a grade 2 winner in Puerto Rico. In 2016 he stood at Journeyman Stud for $3,500. BH

SUNS OUT GUNS OUT TO FLORIDA

By BloodHorse Staff

West Point Thoroughbreds' Suns Out Guns Out, the only son of Empire Maker standing in Florida, has joined Stonewall's Prestige Stallions' roster for 2017. He will stand for $2,500.

Retired to Hand Ride Stables in Ohio in 2016, the 8-year-old horse stood for $2,000.

This is the third new stallion announced by Stonewall's Prestige Stallions for 2017, as they are rapidly adding to their roster by the start of breeding season. The others are Big Drama and Uncle Vinny.

Racing for West Point, Suns Out Guns Out ran from ages 2-5 and earned $327,451 with a 4-5-4 record. Bred by Shunji Izumi out of the Smart Strike mare Angel Arch, he was a $325,000 purchase by Buzz Chace, agent for West Point, at the Fasig-Tipton Florida select 2-year-olds in training sale in 2011, when consigned by Hoby and Layna Kight.

Trained by Dale Romans, Suns Out Guns Out finished fourth in the 2012 Oklahoma Derby and the 2013 Breeders' Cup Marathon (G2) at Santa Anita Park.

His last start was a winning one at Gulfstream Park in March of 2014, defeating graded stakes-placed Stormin Monarcho by 3 1/4 lengths in 1:34.61 for the one-mile race.

The stallion's dam, Angel Arch is a full sister to grade 2 winner and grade 1-placed Tenpins. Exported to Japan in December 2009, Angel Arch has produced four winners from four registered foals. BH

Uncle Lino won the California Chrome Stakes and placed in two graded stakes in his 8-race career

UNCLE LINO TO STAND IN PENNSYLVANIA

By Jeremy Balan

 @BH_JBalan

Stakes winner Uncle Lino has been retired from racing to stand at Northview PA in Peach Bottom, Pa., according to trainer and co-owner Gary Sherlock.

The son of Uncle Mo sustained a soft-tissue injury in the Preakness, but had worked twice at Santa Anita Park in January. Sherlock said an offer came in that was too good to pass up and reported the 4-year-old retired uninjured.

"We got to thinking about it and the only thing that could make him more valuable was a grade 1 win," Sherlock said. "You never know how they'll come back (from an injury like that). He's got a great pedigree and the deal was good for both parties."

According to Northview, Uncle Lino will stand for a $4,000 fee in 2017, live foal.

"Northview has been looking extremely hard for a son of Uncle Mo," said Northview president and chief executive officer Richard Golden. "Uncle Lino has checked all of our boxes."

Uncle Lino won the California Chrome Stakes April 30 at Los Alamitos Race Course just before an off-the-board finish in the Preakness Stakes (G1) and earned a grade 1 placing in the Santa Anita Derby earlier in April. In eight starts he earned $316,160 and had a 2-2-2 record.

Uncle Lino is out of the unraced Haysee, half sister to grade 1 winner and sire Shackelford, grade 2 winner Afleeting Lady, and full to grade 1 winner Lady Joanne. BH

CHANGING BUSINESS MODEL IMPACTS CALIFORNIA RACING

@BH_FAngst

In fiscal year 2016, money wagered on California race cards was similar to the wagering total in FY2011, but compared with FY2011 California race-tracks collected nearly $8 million less from the nearly identical betting total.

The California Horse Racing Board's annual report released this week documents the challenge racing faces as the percentage of pari-mutuel money generated for tracks' and horsemen's purses declines as more handle shifts to advance-deposit wagering outlets.

Under racing's business model, after winning wagers are paid, the bulk of remaining pari-mutuel money has typically gone to tracks and purses. But as more bettors have chosen to wager through ADW sites, that third player in the equation also has to be paid, resulting in smaller percentages for tracks and purses.

In FY2016, $2,904,499,795 was wagered on California racing—for all breeds. That figure was nearly identical in FY2011, at $2,903,905,682. But the wagering in FY2016 only generated $111,997,219 for tracks compared with $119,907,554 in FY2011, a 6.6% decline.

A shift in wagering habits is behind the decline in pari-mutuel revenues generated for tracks. In FY2011, ADW handle through the licensed California ADW companies accounted for 21.1% of wagering on state tracks. In FY2016, that percentage ballooned to 30.4%, including 38% of the wagers by California residents. Because a percentage of that money goes to ADWs, there's not as

In FY2011, 4.79% of money wagered on California races went into the purse account. With a takeout increase ahead of FY2012 that committed a larger percentage of money to purses, that percentage would increase to 5.14%, but with wagering shifting to ADWs in the years that followed, that percentage also has come down, checking in at 4.88% in FY2016.

Of course if the amount of pari-mutuel wagering was increasing, there'd figure to be more money for all involved and everyone would be happy—but that hasn't occurred. It's also safe to say that without the ADW option, total handle would decrease rather than remain stagnant. The ADW companies certainly deliver convenience but debate centers on the pricing of that service.

In a message from Chuck Winner that begins the FY2016 annual report, the CHRHB chairman said ADW companies will be asked to contribute more to the industry. He outlined the CHRHB's efforts to use geo-location to count as on-track wagers bets made by on-track patrons who use their ADWs to make wagers. Winner said the CHRHB also will require profit and loss statements from ADW companies and has asked ADW companies to voluntarily do more for California racing and equine charities. BH
